

A free version of Memopal Online Backup is available from today

3GB free for everyone and 50GB extra for the charged versions.

Rome 9 November 2009. Memopal Online Backup (www.memopal.com) is available as a free version starting today: 3GB of space for everybody to store any type of document, with no limits, from holiday photos to work files, completely secure and easy to use. Plus, paying Personal users can take advantage of the free 50GB upgrade. The new offers are: €49 for 200GB and €69 for 300GB.

“The cost of storage is constantly decreasing - states Marco Trombetti, CEO of Memopal - so, as promised, we have given our users more space and will continue to do so in the future.”

Memopal is an online storage solution to protect and share files and entire folders with just a simple click, becoming a valid alternative to e-mail and FTP. You can download the folders directly from the Memopal website. At any time you can work on the files contained there, and when finished you can upload the folders with the new modifications to your space. Here are some screenshots.

As well as supporting Windows, Mac and Linux, the files archived on Memopal can also be accessed from an iPhone using a free application and from any mobile device with a browser.

To get your free 3GB, just download the software from www.memopal.com and enter a valid e-mail address at the time of the configuration. A credit card is not requested.

Memopal in a few words:

Memopal's mission is to protect and organize the users' files. Memopal stands out from the competition because data stored with its application is also synchronized, searchable and accessible as soon as it is uploaded on the web. More important files are synchronized with priority. Memopal calculates the relevance of these files based on the way they are used. For more information visit: www.memopal.com
